Just picked this up tonight less the meisters, basically I couldn't afford them so its back on standard alloys :(

I think there is a bit more but off the top of my head spec is

Apexi Power FC with Commander

Apexi RSM

CT26 from a Supra is what I was told, I have to check its not just a rev2 turbo

Blitz Nur Spec

HKS SSQV

Decat

Aftermarket Intercooler and pipes (have to check make)

Greddy Boost Gauge

Cusco Front and Back Struts

Apexi Lowering Springs

Recaro Seats

Momo S/Wheel

TRD Short Shifter

Grooved discs and what looks to be yellow stuff pads

Serviced with motul xcess 8100 and brisk iridium plugs

Hids

TRD Clocks

Not sure on the make of side skirts or the rear spoiler, although its genuine carbon

Turbo Timer

Apparently an aftermarket clutch, feels like my old paddle clutch at least.

I haven't had a chance to get a proper look around apart from the usual so they're may be more, they guy who owned it had a few of them but wouldn't know too much about mods.

One of the things I want to do is drop the sump, the car came with receipts of work carried out by a crowd in Birr (Morris Motorsport) in 2008 but I can't find anything on them. It shows receipts for a full forged bottom end along with the Power FC, mapping and other bits and there is some photo's but I'd like to check for sure

I'm thinking of changing to the standard skirts as they stock wheels look crap with them and eventually getting some nicer wheels.

There's a few small bits (shock top mount, leak in decat etc) that I want to get done

Dan ! Welcome Back !! And in a white Rev3 tubby no less B)

Looks a very clean example love them HID's!

Stick with the side-skirts lad they look nice in the pics.
A member here MOR has some really nice black wheels for sale that would look lethal with your black spoiler.
I'm trying to get my two to resemble yours somewhat soon...

Hey Cashy,

Yeah, I've tried to get back into an MR2 but couldn't find a decent one so gave up, it was only as of today we started talking about a deal so it was all a bit quick lol.

They really suit the meisters but they make the stock wheels look tiny. I think I prefer the stock skirts anyhow, I might throw them up for a swap.

Do you have a link for the wheels? Won't have money for a while but wouldn't mind a snoop.

Did you stick up a project thread on your own?

How much did he want for them rims?

They do look pretty awesome, you should save up and buy them from him.

Let me have a look at them today and see what condition they're in and I'll get back to you.

AFAIK he's looking near €1k with the tyre's

All the best with your new 2 looks great and that's an impressive spec list. They look like bomex skirts and a rev 5 rear wing.
kcd B) B)

Keep the pics coming :)

Unfortunately this will be going up for sale very soon.

The main use for the last car was shopping,work, bringing the dogs to the parks for walks and golf gear and it just can't do all of them, or at least not very well so it looks like I'll be changing for a big diesel

Really gutted over it, finally had an Mr2 to the spec I wanted for years only to have to sell it.

It took a week of not so subtle hints from the other half for me to come round to logic lol

Not too sure yet, close to 3 I think, with all the parts on it I could break it for more if I had the time and another car
