

FS:MR2 Turbo

Posted by dan_ep82 - 2014/07/31 13:39

Spec :

95 MR2 Turbo

Mileage :142k Kms

Tax until 1/10/2014

Body is in really good condition for its age, no rust etc.

All electrics work including the aerial.

Recently serviced with Motul 8100 Xcess oil and filter plus new Brisk Iridium Plugs

JVC Headunit

Apexi Power FC with Commander

Apexi RSM

CT26 with a custom actuator bracket which make me think its a Supra Turbo

Blitz Nur Spec

HKS SSQV

HKS Air Filer

Decat

Aftermarket Intercooler and pipes

Greddy Boost Gauge

Cusco Front and Back Struts

Apexi Lowering Springs

Recaro Seats re trimmed in half leather with matching door cards

Momo S/Wheel

TRD Short Shifter

Grooved discs and what looks to be yellow stuff pads

Hids

TRD Clocks

Carbon Rear Spoiler

Greddy Turbo Timer

I haven't dropped the sump off but I also have receipts (6k) and pictures of the engine being forged by Morris Motorsport in Offaly

It will need new tyres for the NCT and a cat but I can't think it will fail on anything else.

Along with the receipts on the forged engine and pictures I have the original MR2 owners book, the receipt for the alarm,a JRC cert from Japan,original radio book (sadly gone), a service book from Japan and what I think is their version of an NCT cert

Pictures to come later, some from the previous owner until then

Price is €3,000 which I think is fair, the parts alone are worth that I just don't have the means of taking it off the road and making it to work.

Ideally looking for a diesel for my next car.

Practicality , I seen it as a chance to have the MR2 I always wanted and thought I could make it work.

When I last had an MR2 I was living at home and sold it when I moved out with the other half. Since then I've take up golf (a lot) and we've two dogs aswell.

With the MR2 I can't go to the range and do the shopping after and going anywhere with the dogs is a nightmare with covering seats and room. IT can be a bit cramped with a passenger and two shitzu's plus the passengers luggage .. sorry, handbag
