

car is cutting the injectors

Posted by mr2guy - 2014/08/15 21:00

Hi everyone im looking for some advice. My rev 1 mr2 turbo starts but cuts out nearly straight away as the ecu is cutting the injectors. Its a rev 2 engine on a rev 1 loom. Im just wondering is there any sensors different between the rev 1 and rev2 engines that would be stopping the ecu giving power to the injectors? Any advice is welcome thanks

Oh dude... Some massive differences.. I put a rev1 engine into a rev2 loom.. Gotta repin the ECU to make it work..

I highly doubt you will find any diagrams,
Just get the correct wiring and ecu for your engine,
you will save lots of time and probably money too.

I have done that first and there is no spark. I have all the correct signals coming off my ecu just wont stay running. Put a rrv1 n/a ecu on it and it starts and runs just with no boost.

Try use a boost controller then...

Here is an ecu pin out diagram for you, hope it helps somehow.

Had a similar problem. Had to use the rev1 ecu with the repinning.. Swapped ecu and was away...

Easier to buy a rev 2 loom and ecu ... and it just so happens I have a spare one did you have the body loom ???

The one from the passengers foot well to the engine bay ..

That one needs to be changed also
