Hey Cozzy ... have you looked on ebay, I know they are in UK, but if you ordered first thing tomorrow, you should have them in time. I've just had a quick look ... there are some new / refurbished ones and also some used ones from scrappies. There's also seal kits to refurb them yourself, not sure how difficult that is.

My understanding is that they are all the same from rev 2 up, but might be no harm if someone else confirmed that also.

Just did mine yesterday. Cozzy get one from camskill , very happy with the service and came with spare slider boots and even grease. My was front for 100 euro. You have to return yours.
