

insurance

Posted by dazzler mk2 - 2016/01/12 11:37

Hi all ,

Anyone looking for insurance,
I just got mine from autoline up north
€210 fully comp ,with handy extras ,nice lad , Nolan 04870345806

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Smokin Joe Frazier - 2016/01/12 19:11

Thats a good quote. What mileage limit option did you pick?

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by dazzler mk2 - 2016/01/12 21:19

That's for 2400km , it more than covers what I do
But for and extra €50 you can double that to 4800
They have some very handy extras included .

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Quandry - 2016/01/13 11:39

yup seems like a great price alright considering that Insurance premiums have gone crazy of late - fair play for sharing the info.

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by h.burgess1 - 2016/01/13 15:52

Wow. I need to renew my policy in February and the cheapest quote I've found so far was 1300! I will give these guys a call.

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Mister2 - 2016/01/13 21:14

I've been with those guys for the last few years ... can't fault them

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by oxlarkin - 2016/01/20 12:12

Would they insure a 2000 MRS? Can't even get a quote for it at the moment!

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by h.burgess1 - 2016/01/20 12:14

No, they only insure classic cars if you're located in ROI.

The cheapest I found was from QuoteDevil, 1340 fully comp...Crazy.

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by oxlarkin - 2016/01/20 12:15

I read on a couple of places they'll cover once its 15 years or older?

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by h.burgess1 - 2016/01/20 12:19

They told me 20 years when I phoned them.

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by oxlarkin - 2016/01/20 12:35

Just off the phone to them now - only issue they flagged was my age (25) they will accept the car no problem it seems, lady is gone off now to work out quote and ring me back.

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by h.burgess1 - 2016/01/20 12:39

Nice! Hope it works out for you!

I've been driving in the US with no claims for 15 years but only held an Irish license for 1. They won't consider my previous record at all, and 90% of the companies I called don't insure the car anyway. I nearly gave up and bought a Micra ;)

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by oxlarkin - 2016/01/20 12:42

I haven't bought one yet have spent two weeks trying to get an insurance quote. Hopefully i get a decent quote on it.

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Rex Banner - 2016/01/21 08:34

Welcome along Ox.
Let us know if that works out for you

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by oxlarkin - 2016/01/21 09:55

Just off the phone with Autoline finally a quote €511.45 fully comp for the year - will be going with them

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by b4ss - 2016/01/21 10:24

is that for classic car policy??

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by oxlarkin - 2016/01/21 10:40

Yes classic policy restricted mileage of like 2000 a year. They were very iffy about insuring me as I'm only 25. The lady was saying they would rather I was 30 or over. At least I got a quote. Going to look at one or two cars over the weekend so hopefully be on the road soon.

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Steve - 2016/01/24 15:17

Campion insurance, €175 for the year third party unlimited miles but you have to have a separate policy in your own name, Axa €250 fully comp same deal need a separate policy in your own name so your vintage insurance be your second policy in your name I myself am with Axa.

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by oxlarkin - 2016/01/24 20:13

How old must the car be to be classic or vintage with axa/campion?

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Steve - 2016/01/24 21:33

Mine is 1990, but I think it has to be 25yrs I could be wrong I know guys who mr2s are twenty yrs but insured up the north

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by oxlarkin - 2016/01/24 21:43

I was trying to insure a 00 MRS no luck down here autoline only firm that would even quote me!

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Steve - 2016/01/24 21:49

Did you try quote devil, there ment to be ok they can be expensive to insure there in the high class

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by oxlarkin - 2016/01/24 21:53

Autoline €500 fully comp on a classic policy

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Steve - 2016/01/24 21:57

That's a good price for a 00 model and fully comp nice 1

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by SteveH - 2016/01/25 14:43

I was with Autoline for a year for the 511 price. 27 years old and the car was a 1998 (so 17 years old at the time) and they took it.

Very friendly bunch and will be going with them again when I get this wedding out of the way!

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Atticus39 - 2016/02/06 10:55

Hi Guys

I've been looking to insure my 00 MR2 and had zero quotes! Auto line insure people in Ireland do they? Would they give me a quote you think?

I'm 29, no points

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Steve - 2016/02/06 14:16

Did u give Axa a try there usual good, yea autoline do the south I'm surprised u are getting no quotes as u are 29yrs what about quote devil try them.

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Atticus39 - 2016/02/06 17:07

I have tried most of them, I will try Axa and see. If not, auto line are my only hope or I will have to sell my baby

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by KnightRider - 2016/02/07 18:54

Try Gallivan Murphy Hooper Dolan Insurance in Killarney. I find them very good.

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by KnightRider - 2016/02/07 19:00

That's very good. Mine is up next month 230 is the cheapest so far with First on a 2000 mile policy fully comp. Will give Autoline a ring

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Quandry - 2016/02/08 10:11

First Ireland insurance brokers are pretty good. Tell them you are in the MR2 club and I can provide you a membership number if you like.

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Atticus39 - 2016/02/08 12:54

That would be great, gonna try a few of the recommended places today

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Atticus39 - 2016/02/08 13:05

Just tried the guys in Killarney, €7000!!!!!!!

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by KnightRider - 2016/02/08 19:57

Jesus! Did they say that without laughing!!!

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Steve - 2016/02/08 21:38

U serious,€7000 That can't be right did u try axa €7000, There is a few of us in naas, kildare and were all with axa some on vintage policy and others on a every day use policy, the most expensive at €680 no harm in trying them

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Turlock - 2016/02/08 22:57

I've a classic beemer with FI so I rang to get the MR2 Turbo (which is 20 years old) added and they told me to get bent.
Has anyone got a classic policy with them that you know?

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Amps - 2016/02/09 07:56

Campion, 850 for every day use. May be higher this year though because of the iincrease in policies

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Quandry - 2016/02/09 08:46

Turlock wrote:

I've a classic beemer with FI so I rang to get the MR2 Turbo (which is 20 years old) added and they told me to get bent.

Has anyone got a classic policy with them that you know?

I have my '92 on a classic policy with First Ireland. It had to be on with a regular day to day car also though and limited use etc etc.

For anyone that needs it here is the First Ireland ph: 01 882 0818

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Atticus39 - 2016/02/09 10:52

I tried Autoline and because I don't have a second car they won't give me a quote. The killarney guys gave me a call saying 'we can probably get that €7000 down a bit', to which i replied 'you would fking want to!'

Quote now is €2250 and that is the only quote I have been given from anywhere so my only option

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Mr2kyle - 2016/04/06 03:03

I got quoted 8k when I went to insure my 93 na so I told them to jog on! Now got a 99 na I'm thinking about changing over but I'd say insurance will hit me just as bad again....I'm 21 with 3 years nc

=====

Re: insurance

Posted by Quandry - 2016/04/06 10:05

I still have my MR2 on a First Ireland classic policy, but I have a family car on with <http://www.coverinaclick.ie/> take a look as they say they are "Young Driver Car Insurance Specialist"

=====