How to upload pictures via Imageshack.us
Posted by dan_ep82 - 2010/08/10 23:45

1. Open the page imageshack.us

2. Click on the browse button indicated with the black arrow

http://img571.imageshack.us/img571/4187/howtoupload.png

3. Select your preferd picture and click open. This will put it in place to be loaded.
http://img693.imageshack.us/img693/8733/howtoupload2.png

4. Click on the blue Upload button and remember to set the Resize option to 640x480

http://img641.imageshack.us/img641/6108/howtoupload3.png

5. Wait for it to upload.
Then left click the code under Forum Code to copy the picture code.
Higlighted via black arrow.

http://img842.imageshack.us/img842/5431/howtoupload4.png

6. Once the code is copied,simply go back to the original forum (MR2 Drivers or whichever forum your are posting on)
Click in the reply box.
Right click and then hit paste.

Yep,problem i have with photobucket is if the owner of the account doesnt log in for 4 weeks they stop hosting the pictures which is annoying when reading tutorials.

All my photos are automatically stored on my Google account. This is preventing me sharing the images as I can't get a photo link that works as in a, http://12345.jpg etc

And none of this stuff please :laugh:

I think it's because the Google photos don't have the jpg extension - it works with vbulletin so no reason why it shouldn't work with this forum software, prob something Quandrt needs to do on the backend

On a side note re this thread imageshack is dead since they started charging

Imgur is where it's at now ;)

I read something about you right click on the picture you want to share (in Google Drive) and it will give you a web link with a .jpg extension. Can you give that a try?
