Road car all fresh after its run to Galway last weekend.

<http://i261.photobucket.com/albums/ii72/5lip5lide/IMG-20120902-00651.jpg>

Other anniversary model just ready for the NCT, c/w original stereo and all.

Ready to be fitted - hope to have back on the road eof October:

Wheel upgrade to 17' Advan SA3r

Border (replica) side skirts

TOMS air scoop

I haven't decided yet on decals - thinking grey racing strips that are on Ferrari 360 Scud.

Thanks Colm. Yeah that MR2 was parked down the road from me for a few years but it's gone now. Reckon they must have been imported around the same time. It used to be a mint car but yer man just lost interested in it.

At the same time he wouldn't sell it for less than 3 grand so just let it rot at the side of the road instead. People can be weird! :silly:

Just saw this now crawling through posts etc. I have my own 2 step system for red paint. Have tested it on my red banger as it was pink/red faded completely when I got it. I used it once a month for 3 months as it was very bad. Then only once in 3 months and then once in 6 months. Basically first stuff restores paint and second throw protective layer of carnauba wax on top of it. If you really interested pm me after few weeks. Cant name the product as it's mix of number of stuff inside and it's my own potion.

I have a suggestion guys ...

We all like our own MR2 ... But who has the nicest one ...

Why don't we setup a vote type of thing .. public vote

- Best exterior ...
- Best Engine Bay ...
- Best Interior ...
- Best All Round ...
- Best Modified ...
- Most destroyed ...

That type of thing and make it a yearly thing ...and give awards ...
small cheap awards .. to submit your car into the competition costs say €5 ...

Revenue for site and prizes

just an idea ...

Is your car a jdm car? Just wondering as it has a turbo lid but an UK front and rear?

Was looking through an old thread (almost 2 years ago now) similar to this one with members cars...

Thank you for the compliment!

Answering your question about JDM or not it's not quite simple...

My ride is a hybrid of a green 95 rev3 N/A AT and a 95 JDM hardtop.

Mitch threw it together, so the topic you linked shows my car indeed.

You have a great memory noticing and matching my car with an old thread.:respect:

Here is the topic I found after some digging
<http://www.mr2.ie/mr2-forum/10-general/8073-my-mr2-at-last#8073>

So, I'd say it's half JDM... :blush:

Your GTS rocks!The side indicators are DIY?

Cheers,

Are they called Advans? Did they come as standard on some Jap MR2's? They seem to be very popular anyway and its not hard to see why!

Don't think they where ever standard on mr2's?
Not sure how much the car is lowered, just that its on koni adjustable shocks & springs.
Yeah loved my tints until some ass MOT tester told me to pull them or he'd fail me.
Going to have them done again tho.

how's the front bumper or body kit officially called?

=====

Re: YOUR MR2

Posted by Infamous - 2013/04/10 19:08

Its an oem bumper with a different front lip.
Hard to make out from that pic, could be a holy front lip, aeroware or greddy (doesn't seem to stick out for enough for greddy though?!).

Re: YOUR MR2

Unreal darren delighted with it. The backfireing is class :). But has to come off for test cause no cat between it. And it needs some metal polish waitin to get that somewhere.. for stainless.

Re: YOUR MR2

Posted by Japohara - 2013/04/18 11:50

Yeah she should spit the odd flame as it has no cat etc ... There is a trick to it ... my old man showed me it years ago on a mini ... when on high revs switch off the ignition and back on pretty quick .. it stops the spark plug from sparking and pushes the unburned fuel into the exhaust where it should light from heat of exhaust or from next spark from spark plug and spit a flame ... Never tried it with that exhaust but should work ... might take some practice ...

Ya they are the hsd coilovers thanks bommie unreal job there the mono ones the top spec ones. 16 stage damper in them. Offset pillow mounts in front and jus normal pillow ball mounts in the rear. One downer is the pipes that connect to the original shocks are jus hanging for now need to tidy it up a bit wit brackets on them.

Thanks cozy.

hi everyone. i just pick up my second mr2 for a very fair price. it's a 91 na shell with a gen3 swap. it's still running on a gen2 ecu. but, not for long. thanks to a few friendly mr2 owner here. i was able to pick up what i needed to get this baby fully gen3.

http://i954.photobucket.com/albums/ae24/theblackmushroom/969653_480058402069634_1740949555_n.jpg

i added on the 94 wing and lip. just looking for a good set of mud flaps at the moment.

http://i954.photobucket.com/albums/ae24/theblackmushroom/993071_480058348736306_464139376_n.jpg took out that 17" rims that the car came with and added the 93 rims. 25mm spacer will be added soon i hope. as for the spring. i'm not sure what's on there. look stock to me.

http://i954.photobucket.com/albums/ae24/theblackmushroom/969703_481341831941291_932679993_n.jpg

did some cleaning, full tune up and alittle bit of tucking. :)

http://i954.photobucket.com/albums/ae24/theblackmushroom/5835_481341591941315_962857397_n.jpg

yeah, you still see that ugly afm for now til i get to install that gen3 ecu back on.

that's it for now. i'm really happy with my buy.

Very nice 2!

With an engine like that you may want to get a set of rev3 brakes (disc and caliper) because they are bigger than the rev 2 ones.

All you need for looks is a bodykit but if you like it stock thats cool.

Re: YOUR MR2

Posted by frank-the-tank - 2013/06/15 20:13

thanks. brakes are also on my what to do list. i only had this car for about 4 weeks now. so, in a short period of time. i think i have done alot to it. as it turn out. the owner before me was not very nice to this car. i ended up fixing alot of stuff. just fixing and buying replacement parts for it is killing my wallet. hahaha.. the price of love.

my first mr2 have a full body kit already. so, i'm trying to keep this one stock for re-sale later on. yeah, i hate to sale her. but, that was the plan. fix and sale. i just hope the next owner will enjoy the amount of work i put into this car. :)

- head light didn't work.
- window didn't roll down or up.
- oil was darker then the color black
- vaccum hoses was all plug up wrong. in some case. not even plug up
- body part and engine parts was missing
- interior was rip or missing
- ac didn't work
- all the belts was chew up the list just go on and on. but, thank god i got them fix.

Hi all,new to this forum,just wanted to show first pics off my first bought MR2 MK2,bought here from a guy that had her stored over 8 years,she was a jap import and just left abandoned,so i bought her,spent 3 weeks getn her shipshape and roadworthy,body shchultz under all wheel arches,but to be honest wasnt an ounce off rust on the car,only has 87k killometers,everything completly original ,driving perfect with a fantastic smooth engine,she is a 2lt non turbo,just looking for a passenger side rear light now,and car is complete,hope you all like her,as wanted to keep her totally original,car has never been sprayed,just flatten-polished her with 2k grade sandpaper and used a proper buffer and polish.

thnks for reading JOCK
