Hope these links work,im old and trying to figure out how to show my car pics :laugh:

1997 MR2 MK2 REV3 Jap import 87k kilometers,totally rust free,have been underneath car last 2 weeks to check all suspension,body work,all car needed was back break pads,i body schultz under all wheel arches,and floor inside front bonnet,completely valeted inside,machine polished outside then hand waxed 4 times,to bring up the original paint,the old 2 pack paint in black a killer to keep mark free,this car had been lying up stored for around 8 years,great to see her back on road.

About myself = 41 started panel beating since 14,but these days just do up cars for my own enjoyment,i mostly do full valeting these days,to bring cars back to original look.

i have noticed very expensive to get a rear passenger-side light for my car,and toyota ireland told me it will be 3 months delivery time to get one off them lol.

Hope these pics work,and thanks for looking.

Car looks great Jock, nice bit of work you put in there well done.

I have a set of rear lights that I could part with if that would help finish the car properly, they are Rev 3 lights so would match what you have.

thank you,had a look at supercharger yesterday,no rust on her,but been lying up in a shed nearly ten years,so i will need to respray,then change all belts,strip down car to bare bones,to make her roady worthy and safe again,might be a challenge ,but if i get money together will try take her on,i say not many jap import mark1 T-TOP Superchargers left around,have any you guys got an idea whats there value after they have been made roadworthy,theres just 80k killometers on its clock.

Thanks jock

http://www.mr2.ie/images/fbfiles/images/IMG_0364_800x800-20160117.jpg Few new pics,put led lights in dash,and stitched in steering wheel cover,cleaned up around engine bay,sanded down and primered,sprayed a few items,to freshen car-up,doing everything on the cheap,sourcing and doing all work myself,to do all this new work,have only racked up an extra 30 euro bill,on products.

Hope you guys like,JOCK.

PS ,silicone hoses next job,but will be done on cheap also,far too expensive to buy pre-cuts items,will measure sizes and thickness off hoses myself,if anyone already has that info,please forward it to me,would be a great help thanks.

LOL cant get any pics to load,on the supercharger its still sitting in a shed,think owner might want to be selling her as she is,been trying to get him for months for us to get a start on her,but he seems to have no interest,pity its a complete car,with another mk1 there for parts,maybe if i can scrap money together myself,might make him an offer for the car.
