

Silent member please read, Come out of the Dark,

Posted by slipsliderg - 2010/06/09 00:11

This site is set up to help the MR2 community in Ireland, and in anyway we can overseas. The site is only composed of the people in it, its free and open to anybody to contribute in whatsoever way they want.

For this purpose there is an introduce yourself section.

If you are a regular lurker, pop in, we don't bite,say hello :)

If you looking to buy a two, and are just gathering info, say hello :)

If you are shy and retiring, we are all here for the same reason, say hello :)

If you are on the site because of a problem with your two, ask and, say hello :)

If you came across the site on a web search, don't just flitter past, say hello :)

If your an ex B/F or G/F,yes we are getting on much better without you,now, say hello :laugh:

Thru the looking glass, down the rabbit hole or in through the outdoor, welcome along sit down have a glass, and say hello. :)

This site, exists, only for, and because of the members, we have around 200 at this stage, and yet only about 30 regular contributors. 23 members online today, that's a cracking number.

As pointed out before, this collective knowledge spans every aspect and facet of MR2's if its not here we know where to get it, if you want advice we will give it, or look at it to give you advice.

You are more than welcome to the site, please say hello, if that is all you can contribute, cool & we hope whatever you are reading / lurking over, helps you with whyever your here, and wish you happy motoring. B)

=====

Re:Silent member please read, Come out of the Dark,

Posted by Quandry - 2010/06/09 08:55

Good post! I guess a lot of people are not used to 'talking' on forums and maybe they just stumbled across the page. I was like that once, but I did find that by contributing it became a more rewarding experience.

Anyways, I hope there's some current and future lurkers that are getting value from the site and will want to add their own 2c to the community at some stage. :)

Karma Click +1 SlipsliderG

=====

Re:Silent member please read, Come out of the Dark,

Posted by Spidey - 2010/06/09 09:17

+1 - please say hello. As mentioned, we don't bite - except at the mini-meets when we dig into a McDonalds :)

And you don't even have to have an MR2 ! If you like MR2s and maybe can't afford insurance at the moment or are saving for one, you are more than welcome along to the meets to check out the 2s. We are definitely not car snobs.

Hell, the Celica is like a cousin of the MR2 and the Supra is a bit of an Uncle :)

=====

Re:Silent member please read, Come out of the Dark,

Posted by SWAGGER - 2010/06/09 18:29

Well said Rayman! You're a modern day poet.

Id love to see more lurkers become members, more info, more people at meets, more cars to look at, compare and contrast and so on.

A well deserved KC+1 for you mate.

=====

Re:Silent member please read, Come out of the Dark

Posted by Ivan - 2010/06/15 21:49

Well I am signed on here, but not really a lurker.

I have a 1992 t-bar turbo that I bought in 2005. I've only put about 7,000 miles up on it since I got it. I currently drive a Porsche boxster (bought 2008) hence the reason I'm not on this site I spend enough time trying to keep up with the Porsche sites.

It's great to see this site up and running, I know the effort it takes and apologies for not supporting it.

I do intend to take the mr2 out of storage at some stage and may get a chance to meet up with some of you.

Ivan

=====

Re:Silent member please read, Come out of the Dark

Posted by Spanky - 2010/06/15 21:53

Ivan wrote:

Well I am signed on here, but not really a lurker.

I have a 1992 t-bar turbo that I bought in 2005. I've only put about 7,000 miles up on it since I got it. I currently drive a Porsche boxster (bought 2008) hence the reason I'm not on this site I spend enough time trying to keep up with the Porsche sites.

It's great to see this site up and running, I know the effort it takes and apologies for not supporting it.

I do intend to take the mr2 out of storage at some stage and may get a chance to meet up with some of you.

Ivan

Welcome along Ivan. you should open an introductions thread so that everyone can say hello. Post up where your from and some pics of your 2 and Boxster ... just so we can all tell you that the 2 is better looking ;) :P

click here for new introduction thread

=====

Re:Silent member please read, Come out of the Dark,

Posted by slipsliderg - 2010/06/15 23:09

Welcome along, heard really good thing about the boxster, very underated car I believe. Throw up an intro and enjoy your stay. B)

=====

Re:Silent member please read, Come out of the Dark,

Posted by glenner - 2010/07/12 14:37

slipsliderg great post nice write up, im a quiet lad but in person im nuts.

Ill be in more often before been on had me in the dumps as momo was off road now all good still got cut out problem but not stopping me :D

Sry 4 going of topic...

=====

Re:Silent member please read, Come out of the Dark,

Posted by slipslidery - 2010/07/12 15:01

Ivan, welcome back to the world of MR2's (sorry for how your back in the two) if you need any help getting the csr back on the road give us all a shout.

Glenner, good to hear the car is back on the road, looking forward to seeing it and meeting your nutty self.

=====

Re:Silent member please read, Come out of the Dark,

Posted by slipslidery - 2010/07/15 22:21

I have cleaned up the thread a bit to stay on topic and I am going to lock this thread, if you feel like posting up an intro please do so here, we would be delighted to greet you.

Introduction thread.

=====

Re:Silent member please read, Come out of the Dark,

Posted by Quandry - 2010/09/24 21:09

bump :)

=====

Re:Silent member please read, Come out of the Dark,

Posted by Quandry - 2011/04/08 10:25

there's a few lurkers hanging about recently :) hopefully they'll read this..

=====

Re:Silent member please read, Come out of the Dark,

Posted by Quandry - 2011/06/23 21:48

once more for good luck

=====