

Photoshoot Sign Up Sheet

Posted by SteveH - 2012/01/14 14:17

Hi all,

As per previous thread, I think we can all agree that we need MOAR pics of our cars on the site. We are a small community so we need to repizent ourselves. I'm no stranger to a camera and I know Tattitude isn't either so there are no shortage of snappers.

As Spanky pointed out, we should meet somewhere central, not necessarily in Offaly, but wherever in central between everyone interested (which could well be Offaly!)

Tattitude also pointed out that an industrial site would be best and I defintely agree, any car pics I've taken in the past (www.flickr.com/photos/stephenhartnett) have always been away from nature if possible. They just don't blend in my opinion.

Anyway, waffle aside. Names please!

Count me in on this one also provided I still got me 2. I agree that nature and cars should remain two seperate entities, when shooting for Modified Motors, the first thing the boys from Max Power told us was never photograph a car on grass, it looks gash. That said, moving shots on tarmac with plenty of road always look great, particularly when blown up to poster size, if you cherish your car then this is worth considering.

If anyone has an estate car preferably with a sunroof and wouldn't mind it being used for the photographers then we'll get some magazine shots on the day methinks :)

I'll try to dig out some samples from my days with the mag and post them here to whet your appetites :silly:

Ok, well I'm going to guess that people's weekends are probably the best.

Provisionally can we say Saturday 4th of Feb? If this is unsuitable for most of the group, we can change, but 2 weeks is plenty of time

And ideally, ready to take photos at 4pm, so there for 2pm?

And, looking at everyone's location, would Mullingar, Athlone or Tullamore suit people? It's as central as we can get I think!

If you guys want to use Mullingar I can get us an underground car park Just I case weather is bad ... My mate is security there and there is a second level down that's never used in the penny s car park we can have that no problem ...

Just a thought - a lot of people have the first Sunday of every month "booked" off for C&C. Okay, it'd mean missing C&C but many might not be able to get the Sat & Sun off. Plus, I'd give up the C&C for this - looks like a great turnout :)

With respect to Japohara a car park works well for the likes of C&C but if we're doing photography, particularly moving shots on the day then outdoor really is the only way to go guys...IMHO :)

Actually, Spidey makes a very good point about the first Sunday, this could be done instead of. Would moving this to Sunday 5th of Feb be a big hassle for everyone?

I really like shooting in underground car parks, so we could maybe rendezvous somewhere, get the moving shots (as tattitude suggested), and then some close ups in the car park? Does anyone maybe know of any open, large industrial estates in that part of the country with friendly security? :D

Possible biggest MR2.ie meet coming up here folks, if you're in between coming and staying at home, get that ass off the sofa!

Ok Folks I run a business in Mullingar so I know everyone around the town .. Lakeland Security do 90% of the Industrial Estates Around the town so i will have a word with Joe and see who is working that day ... Sunday is a better day for doing stuff in an industrial estate cos all the business are closed ... I would suggest Lough Sheever ... Where all the Car garages are in mullingar .. Its pretty empty apart from that and lots of little car parks ...

Just tell me what you guys are looking for and I will make it happen ...

Also means no hassle from any scrots asking "how many VTECs does its got?"

I don't think there is anyone in charge as such. Mullingar is a good choice as it is fairly central. Where ever is picked we need a decent meeting point then we can move onto wherever else we are going.

Has anyone any objections/comments on going to Mullingar next Sunday for 2pm?

Ok guys the easiest place to meet is at the Lough Owel Diving Boards on the N4 cant miss it... And we wont get any bother there its a nice quiet spot...

Its just the Longford side of mullingar at 53.575748,-7.365485

Good to meet some of you at last..genuine enthusiasts, shame about the weather but some lovely 2's on show today..put mine to shame :lol: .

I'll hopefully have the wheels painted and clearcoat polished for the next meet..after seeing how Spankys wheels turned outwith rattle cans I reckon I'll give it ago (Anyone got a loan of wheels to sit the car on for a day or 2?)

I especially liked JapOHaras carbon fibre wrapped 2, looks miles better in the flesh.

Off Topic: I'm not sure if spidey saw the Focus rocketship at dublin side of the toll! Feckin hell that thing could move. :ohmy:

Heres a few pics I took..didn't take many the rain didn't give me much motivation!..I'm sure Steves pics will shame these ;)

I have a spare set of wheels here but 1 of them is very badly buckled however if you want to sit the car on them your welcome to ... Only reason i am holding them is for the tyres ....

Nice pics ... Some lovely examples ... Have to say I liked The black over silver ... Nice car

Nice one..yeah its just to sit the car on them for a couple of days while I sandblast / prime / paint / lacquer the wheels.

What colour to paint the wheels? Factory Silver, White or what do you reckon?

No offence to anyone with White wheels but I don't think it would suit your car or the rev5 spokes. I would say standard silver would be hard to bet. If you want to change the colour then slightly more grey, not quite as dark as mine but kind of half way from silver to mine, if that makes sense. Would go well with the colour of your car.

my pics below .... good to see you all there today and to put some more faces to the names on here.

Especially impressed with the lady drivers that came along, brings a bit of class to the day :P and worth saying props (and karma) to Becky for driving from Waterford .... I thought I would have had the longest drive :yes:

Guys thanks for all the credit but steve H did all the hard work ...

I have been thinking about getting together a slightly bigger event if people are up for it ...

I can get us a private airport ... With 1/2 mile Runway .... And big hanger ....

But I would like to wait till we have some good weather for this ....

To be honest guys, I haven't even had a chance to properly go through them. And I really amn't happy with how they turned out :(

Either way, I'll throw up what I have, but between moving house, car electrical issues, downsizing in work, I just don't have much free time. I will get them up though. Sorry for letting peeps down :(
