has anyone removed the AFM when getting a standalone? i know you can just leave it there unplugged but i'd like to get rid of it altogether. are there replacement induction kits?

Yes you can buy any induction kit for a Rev3 3sgte and just bolt that on. I used a Blitz one on my car for a while. It's surprising how much weight is in the AFM so no use having it just hanging around!! the harness connector is easy enough to just tuck away in your engine bay also.

Yep if you go to this page there's a few options to choose from:
