

looking for an intercooler

Posted by mike... - 2015/02/18 15:28

hi all..anyone know where I could pick up an aftermarket intercooling and piping for my rev3?thanks

=====

Re: looking for an intercooler

Posted by Marty J - 2015/02/18 16:14

I have a aftermarket intercooler for sale, but no piping.

<http://mr2.ie/mr2-forum/6-buy-swap-and-sell/68837-aftermarket-intercooler-and-backing-shroud-plate>

I was going to do a twin intercooler setup, but financial circumstances dictate.

=====

Re: looking for an intercooler

Posted by mike... - 2015/02/18 16:32

looking for piping aswell though..would there be much work involved in that setup and would there be much of an advantage over just a single setup?

=====

Re: looking for an intercooler

Posted by Marty J - 2015/02/18 16:39

I'm sure it would not be too difficult to get the necessary intercooler piping.

I may have some pipes for it, but I would need to have a look. It's quite a while since I last seen them.

I was planning to have my MR2 producing in the region of 450 bhp and thought it necessary for the extra intercooler.

=====

Re: looking for an intercooler

Posted by mike... - 2015/02/18 19:09

o ya.looks fairly new from the pics.any damage or anything?do ya think you would have the pipes if ya looked bud?

=====

Re: looking for an intercooler

Posted by Marty J - 2015/02/18 21:46

It has never been installed so no damage. It has been sitting in my parents garage so isn't as shiny as when I bought it, but aluminium goes like that.

I will take a look tomorrow.

=====

Re: looking for an intercooler

Posted by mike... - 2015/02/18 22:36

ya cool.let me know.cheers

=====

Re: looking for an intercooler

Posted by Marty J - 2015/02/21 21:16

I can only seem to find the pipe that connects to the lower intercooler inlet.

=====

Re: looking for an intercooler

Posted by Marty J - 2015/02/23 15:27

I found two more pipes today in the boot of my MR2. :blush:

=====

Re: looking for an intercooler

Posted by mike... - 2015/02/23 19:05

pmd you marty

=====

Re: looking for an intercooler

Posted by mike... - 2015/02/27 16:14

reading on the net..people are saying to replace backing shroud and fan?anyone have input?

=====
Re: looking for an intercooler

Posted by Marty J - 2015/02/27 17:45

The backing shroud is a good idea. The air has to go through, instead of around the intercooler therefore making the most of the intercooler. The upgraded fan is also good at removing more heat quickly.

The combined results help with other upgrades to produce more power and you can stay on boost for longer. I would recommend both upgrades.

=====
Re: looking for an intercooler

Posted by mike... - 2015/02/27 18:02

seen some good comments on them alright..I have to say it's annoying finding parts for these cars..there's a small enough market.I'm helping a friend of mine modifying his k20 civic and parts are just never ending for them civics.would sickn ya.ha..wonder could I get a kit somewhere including intercooler, piping, fan and shroud..I'm probably asking abit much here:-)

=====
Re: looking for an intercooler

Posted by mike... - 2015/02/27 18:03

seen some good comments on them alright..I have to say it's annoying finding parts for these cars..there's a small enough market.I'm helping a friend of mine modifying his k20 civic and parts are just never ending for them civics.would sickn ya.ha..wonder could I get a kit somewhere including intercooler, piping, fan and shroud..I'm probably asking abit much here:-)

=====
Re: looking for an intercooler

Posted by spla300 - 2015/02/27 22:07

would you not consider a chargecooler?
<http://www.imoc.co.uk/forums/viewtopic.php?t=103914>

=====
Re: looking for an intercooler

Posted by mike... - 2015/02/27 22:29

no man.id say an aftermarket intercooler should be good enough for my set up at the moment..you would want to be running good power to consider a charge cooler set up wouldn't ya?

=====

Re: looking for an intercooler

Posted by mike... - 2015/02/27 22:29

no man.id say an aftermarket intercooler should be good enough for my set up at the moment..you would want to be running good power to consider a charge cooler set up wouldn't ya?

=====

Re: looking for an intercooler

Posted by mike... - 2015/03/26 21:24

Anyone know where I could get one.finding it very difficult.the only ones I'm seeing is on eBay and I don't know if there just cheap crap?

=====