

Wheel bearing - Rotar/dizzy

Posted by b4ss - 2013/04/09 11:09

Hi,
Need to get the above parts, any suggestions on best place?

maybe camskill for rotor am not sure where to get wheel bearying any ideas?

T

=====

Re: Wheel bearing - Rotar/dizzy

Posted by Juliuswws - 2013/04/09 16:00

Hi Tony,

I got my rotor/dizzy from fensport for 8.2/25£. I'm sure that importcarparts or camskill would have it for a bit cheaper. I went with fensport because I was hoping it will be genuine...well it wasn't. I does the job fine however.

If I was you, I'd also get a price from Toyota and make a decision after. I would have paid 10-15 more for an OE Denso...

Anyways, I'll be wiser on my next re-build B)

Cheers

=====

Re: Wheel bearing - Rotar/dizzy

Posted by Spidey - 2013/04/09 17:20

For wheel bearing have you tried Anto or mjmitch ?

If not, mr2-ben normally stocks them

=====

Re: Wheel bearing - Rotar/dizzy

Posted by Mister Two - 2013/04/09 18:11

Just a tip. If you order your cap and rotor through the camskill website you will be charged 16.50 sterling for delivery. Give them a call 1st and ask for them to send it royal mail. It'll take an extra couple of days to get here worth the saving.

=====