

insurance recommendations

Posted by dazzler mk2 - 2014/12/18 20:45

---

Can anyone recommend somewhere for cheap
Insurance, just got my renewal from quote devil
And there looking for mad money .
thanks

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by Tsporter - 2014/12/18 22:13

---

Campbell Autoline for classic policy.

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by Mister2 - 2014/12/18 22:45

---

Tsporter wrote:
Campbell Autoline for classic policy.

Been with them a few years now, fully comp with limited mileage for small money, as long as you can show that you have another vehicle as your primary.

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by dazzler mk2 - 2014/12/18 22:54

---

Thanks lads ,
I'll try them tomorrow.

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by DeathToAllButMetal - 2014/12/19 02:04

---

I'm with 123.ie as it's a regular car policy and my only car too..paying 300e fully comprehensive cover..full license, full NCB, no points anymore, I'm 33 BTW :-)

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by eringobragh - 2014/12/20 12:00

---

DeathToAllButMetal wrote:

I'm with 123.ie as it's a regular car policy and my only car too..paying 300e fully comprehensive cover..full license, full NCB, no points anymore, I'm 33 BTW :-)

x2 for 123.ie paying 500eur fully comp 31 year old /6 years NCB / NCB protection

They won't cover Jap ones though

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by dazzler mk2 - 2014/12/20 12:09

---

Thanks lads , I rang both yesterday
Mine is a jap so no luck with 123
And campbells don't do southern Ireland
So any other options would be appreciated

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by eringobragh - 2014/12/20 12:21

---

remember one of the lads on here threatened 123.ie with the insurance ombudsman and got a policy with them - shame they wont insure jap imports as they are very competitive pricewise.

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by Tsporter - 2014/12/20 20:18

---

dazzler mk2 wrote:

And campbells don't do southern Ireland

They definitely do Southern Ireland for classic policy's. I have mine and I know at least 3 other people who have them since i got mine.

Is it your only car? They only do classic...

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by dazzler mk2 - 2014/12/20 20:28

---

That's weird ,
I'll ring them again on Monday , it's not my only car but I never even got to that question she just told me I'd have to reside in the north ,
Maybe I just got the wrong person !!

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by Tsporter - 2014/12/20 20:33

---

Ring the Coleraine office, the number is on their website. Should be €250 fully comp. Brophys.in Portlaoise will do 3rd party only for €150.

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by dazzler mk2 - 2014/12/20 20:53

---

That could be where i went wrong , I didn't ring Coleraine
I rang the first number on the website ,
Those prices sound great , That's the kind of money I was hoping to pay .I'll definitely them again on Monday .

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by skybound - 2014/12/21 17:42

---

Look for Wendy at the Coleraine office, she looks after the classic policies..
€250 full comp, Jap import.. make sure to mention MR2.ie as it might help others that follow.

Best of luck with it B)

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by dazzler mk2 - 2014/12/21 17:58

---

Cheers pal ,
I'll do that tomorrow,

I'll let yis know how I get on

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by dazzler mk2 - 2014/12/23 10:38

---

Well lads !
Campbells was a success, it's amazing the difference when you talk to the right person , Wendy is definitely the woman to deal with ,
got a great deal fully comp with breakdown , €359
That's without a no claims bonus, they don't allow for them
And you don't build up any with the classic policy still a saving of €150

Thanks for all the help lads !
Much appreciated B)

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by Tsporter - 2014/12/23 13:24

---

Congrats, glad we could help get you on the road!

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by b4ss - 2014/12/23 15:20

---

> 123.ie for 330

Is this for a Turbo?

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by dazzler mk2 - 2014/12/23 15:26

---

They won't do jap imports ,
And I only have 1 year no claims because I use all my no claims bonus on my van,
No its not a turbo.

=====
Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by DeathToAllButMetal - 2014/12/24 00:49

---

Glad you got sorted eventually Dazzler

---

=====
Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by Tig - 2015/01/02 05:32

---

I added mine onto a vintage policy for €40....Im with axa and already paying 326 for a merc 380SLC

---

=====
Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by julio - 2015/01/02 09:43

---

Ya if you have a policy with axa with 5yncb you can get classic insurance on a 20+ year old car if not its 25 and more expensive you also get 20% discount because of other policy ;)

---

=====
Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by dazzler mk2 - 2015/01/02 12:52

---

Just an update,

I had a bit more time on my hands and decided to ring around before I went with campbells , and I got some really good quotes , I'm 42 with full no claims and a daily car

1. champions . third party €190 fire and theft €240
2. AXA . full comp Inc break down etc €254
3. First Ireland . fully comp Inc break down etc €248

So it pays to shop around ,
Thanks for all the help ,advice and input on this and
Everything else over the last year !

Happy new year to you all

---

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by dazzler mk2 - 2015/01/03 15:25

---

Just an update,

I had a bit more time on my hands and decided to ring around before I went with campbells , and I got some really good quotes , I'm 42 with full no claims and a daily car

1. champions . third party â,-190 fire and theft â,-240
2. AXA . full comp Inc break down etc â,-254
3. First Ireland . fully comp Inc break down etc â,-248

So it pays to shop around ,
Thanks for all the help ,advice and input on this and
Everything else over the last year !

Happy new year to you all

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by Marty J - 2015/01/05 13:23

---

Did they ask you if your MR2 is modified ?

Modifications put off a lot of insurance companies and they won't give a quote.

I'm wondering if it is the same for classic cars too ?

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by RR87 - 2015/01/05 13:47

---

Simplyinsure.ie should be helpful.

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by dazzler mk2 - 2015/01/05 15:54

---

Only first Ireland asked about mods,
But on the whole they weren't too interested they seem really lax with the classics ,

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by AlersClarke - 2015/01/13 14:46

---

Hi Quandry, My insurance is up for renewal soon. Is my car eligible for this?

It a 1995 g Ltd import. How much do you think I'll be looking at to insure. The car cost me 640 last year

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by dazzler mk2 - 2015/01/13 18:30

---

Yeah you'd qualify ,
But to insure it as a classic you have to have another car insured as your daily driver and the mr2 as your second car .

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by dazzler mk2 - 2015/01/13 18:31

---

Yeah you'd qualify ,
But to insure it as a classic you have to have another car insured
as your daily driver and the mr2 as your second car .

=====

Re: insurance recommendations

Posted by Luksander - 2015/01/14 10:39

---

I just spot AXA has FULL Comprehensive Insurance for Driving other cars (up to 50000EUR).
That allow to drive cars up to 2.0L Engines belong to somebody else (no supouse or partner - most likly different household) so match. Just insure any other daily car with them and borrow MR2 from your uncle.It is 20 EUR only.

=====