

recommend a clutch for my rev2 turbo

Posted by andy t - 2015/07/19 12:47

release bearing is annoying and needs replacing so going to do the full clutch kit while im at it as its bad practice to do otherwise ...

car doesnt have any heavy engine mods so was thinking maybe a stage1 or similar or is there anything ye would recommend ?

would love to do a light flywheel also but not sure ...

thanks in advance

Re: recommend a clutch for my rev2 turbo

Posted by Quandry - 2015/07/20 12:40

Do you have plans to up the power in the future? Clutchmasters FX300 is pretty good for street use and can take a lot of abuse:

<http://www.clutchmasters.com/fx300/>

Re: recommend a clutch for my rev2 turbo

Posted by mike... - 2015/07/26 17:12

Iv a stage 1 rev3 if it fits.was in the car not even 3 months.absolutely perfect

Re: recommend a clutch for my rev2 turbo

Posted by andy t - 2015/07/26 17:47

is it off a turbo ?
& what kind of $$$?

Re: recommend a clutch for my rev2 turbo

Posted by mike... - 2015/07/29 08:34

Its off my turbo 2.not even broken in yet.have release bearing,clutch and pressure plate.all absolutely

perfect e270

=====

Re: recommend a clutch for my rev2 turbo

Posted by Amps - 2015/08/04 19:17

mike... wrote:

Its off my turbo 2.not even broken in yet.have release bearing,clutch and pressure plate.all absolutely perfect e270

If Andy T doesn't take this I might buy it off you once it fits a rev 4 (Swagger's old car) If anyone could advise me on this I'd much appreciate it

=====

Re: recommend a clutch for my rev2 turbo

Posted by mike... - 2015/08/04 22:16

Amps wrote:

mike... wrote:

Its off my turbo 2.not even broken in yet.have release bearing,clutch and pressure plate.all absolutely perfect e270

If Andy T doesn't take this I might buy it off you once it fits a rev 4 (Swagger's old car) If anyone could advise me on this I'd much appreciate it

Pmd you there pal

=====