

Blueprint bearings Yay or Nay

Posted by Juliuswws - 2018/08/03 16:48

Hi guys,

I generally trust the blueprint brand, anything I bought worked/works fine and dandy.
Trying to source timing parts for good price and quality.

What do you think of getting blueprint tensioner and idler pulley for my t-belt change? The belt itself will be GATES.

Even a yes or no will do as an answer :)

Thank you

=====

Re: Blueprint bearings Yay or Nay

Posted by ricky2 - 2018/08/03 16:53

I've used them before with no problems.

=====

Re: Blueprint bearings Yay or Nay

Posted by mike... - 2018/08/04 10:50

I use blueprint and never have issues but I'd definitely price up the parts in Toyota as sometimes are actually cheaper. plus I'd go original with the timing bits but that's just my preference

=====

Re: Blueprint bearings Yay or Nay

Posted by Juliuswws - 2018/08/04 18:28

Thanks guys! Never used blueprint in such critical application, but will do now this time.

I priced it up at Toyota, Tensioner + Idler = 123 + 58€...
Blueprint = 42 + 19€

Cheers

=====